Quail Destroy Boll Weevil.

In these times when the presence of the boll weevil makes the growing of cotton as a profitable crop almost impossible, it is well for farmers in this distinctly cotton growing section to protect every enemy of that pest. There may be something of truth in the following which comes in a special from Blue Mountain, Miss. The special says:

"That the 'Bob White' is one of the best remedies for the boll weevil of the cotton belt is the opinion of Charles Crawford Gorst, well known bird man and naturalist, who has just made a visit to Blue Mountain. According to this authority, the quail is an inveterate enemy of the weevil, annually destroying millions, not only by devouring the weevils, but thus also preventing propagation. Gorst advocates strict law for the protection of the Bob White in the cotton country."

As long as a dollar bill is circulated around here it is worth a dollar to the community. When sent away it begins to enrich other people in other places. It seldom ever returns. Keep the dollars at home as long as possible; others are not tearing their hair in an effort to hand them to us.

Senatorial Race Soon to be in Full Swing.

The senatorial riders are mounted and the judges will soon give the word to start. Vardaman has arranged for headquarters in the building where he has his editorial rooms. At a recent meeting of his friends, Hon. S. W. Mullens, of Holly Springs, was selected as his campaign chairman, with Judge D. W. Houston, of Aberdeen, as vice-chairman. A secretary and executive committee will be announced later. The Stephens campaign headquarters are in active operation with Eugene Fly in command, and Mr. Stephens is actively engaged in his campaign, speaking in South Mississippi. Miss Belle Kearney is expected down from her home in Madison county soon, and it is reported that she will speak in Jackson, and some of her friends are expressing the hope that an opportunity will be extended her to address the legislature. She announces that she will begin her campaign in South Mississippi.—Raymond Gazette.

To Make Home Brew.

In answer to a subscriber who writes us from Tennessee to inquire how to make home brew, we would give the following recipe, which our reporter says is just the thing:

To make home brew—Chase a wild bullfrog three miles and gather up the hops, add the following: Ten gallons tan bark, one-half pint of shellac, one bar home-made soap. Boil the mixture 36 hours, then strain through an I. W. W. sock to keep it from working, then bottle and add one grasshopper to each pint to give it the "kick."—Columbus Dispatch.

This From Tupelo.

Judge C. P. Long returned yesterday from Booneville, in Prentiss county, where he held court the past week. Judge Long has a way all his own of conducting court. The court room was called to order and prayer was offered by a minister. Then the judge proceeded to take up a collection for the Confederate soldiers outside the Soldiers Home at Beauvoir, which resulted in the goodly sum of $57. Then in the course of the proceedings he sentenced nineteen to jail and eleven to the penitentiary, nearly all of whom had something to do with "home brew."

Chamber of Commerce Elects New Officers

The Aberdeen Chamber of Commerce met Thursday night of last week and elected officers for the present year. G. H. Watkins was elected president, H. W. Maier, first vice-president, and T. T. Deavenport second vice-president. The appointment of the committees is in the hands of the president, and the election of a secretary was deferred to the next general meeting which will occur in the City Hall March 14th, at 7:30 o'clock p. m. After the general order of business had been finished, ideas projected by divers persons for the welfare of the community and county, were discussed. The possibility of dividing large tracts immediately in the vicinity of Aberdeen into small farms and establish on each a home resided in by an energetic white man who will build for himself and family a permanent citizenship and who will engage in a paying agricultural, horticultural, poultry or live stock business, was the prominent idea of the discussion. It was asserted, and statistics prove, that any of these things pay handsomely when supervised intelligently by an energetic white man, especially so, if prosecuted in an intensive manner. The Weekly, some time ago advocated dividing the large farms into smaller ones and the building up of a permanent self-supporting citizenship of white people. Such citizenship only can establish the best civic, social and economical conditions that make for the best ideals of the community life.

The bill providing for the electrocution of condemned criminals and the abolition of the gallows has been defeated. It seems there was not sufficient voltage at the electric plant on the Parchman farm to operate an electric chair.—Exchange.

Death's Sharpshooter.

Pneumonia has well been designated as death's sharpshooter. No warrior was ever known to have such deadly aim. It has been estimated that for every soldier killed in battle, his weight in bullets must have been fired by the enemy. But when pneumonia enters the list as a gunner, at least ten per cent of his shots are fatal. No other disease has quite so high a mortality rate. During the last two or three decades the medical profession has been able to make a decided reduction in the death rate of practically all the more serious diseases, but pneumonia still stands unconquered unchanged. The cause of this dread disease is well known, but as yet, no dependable method of treatment has been devised, neither has a specific for its prevention been discovered. The causative agent or micro-organism is found in practically all months and at practically all times. It is true that some of these organisms seem to be of a more virulent strain than others, hence the reason why all people do not come down with the malady is in some degree made clear. But possibly the chief reason why one falls sick of pneumonia at a certain time is the fact that the individual drifts into a condition of lowered vitality. It seems to be true that vitality is lower at the close of winter than at any other time of the year, hence the prevalence of pneumonia at beginning of spring. So it is important that the public understand the necessity of keeping in the best possible condition and guarding against excesses of all kinds at this time of the year. Neglected colds seem to be followed by pneumonia. And it must not be forgotten that the two extremes of life, infancy and old age, pay a large toll to this fatal malady. Now a word as to treatment, of course, you will call a doctor and you will be guided by him, but he will tell you the patient should be given circulating air to breathe, never stale air. Still, the patient's body should be kept warm and comfortable, but do not have the cover too heavy so as to embarrass breathing or fatigue the patient. Remember that pneumonia does not yield to drug treatment. Drugs are given only to symptoms that present and not to combat or terminate the disease per se. Above all things, remember that pneumonia is infectious and that the expectorated matter carries the infection. The patient should expectorate on cloths or bits of soft paper that can be burned.

There are three classes of attacks of pneumonia, mild, moderately severe and severe. The mild cases will get well without any treatment, the moderately severe cases will get well with proper treatment, the severe cases will end in death in spite of the best treatment. Remember, pneumonia is very fatal. This is the pneumonia season of the year. Be on your guard.

ABERDEEN, MISSISSIPPI.

Dear Sir:

The season is approaching when your mind will turn to this question—"How much cotton shall I plant per mule?" Two ideas will come in your mind:

First—If I over plant in cotton, I will reduce the price to less than it will cost to produce, and if the boll weevil destroys my crop, I am a failure and cannot pay my honest debts. If I use an over supply of fertilizer, it will increase the cotton crop to where it will force the price down.

As we see the situation for the farmer in this and surrounding country, he should not plant more than six acres per mule and plant same between March 28 and April 10. If you cannot get it planted by this date, reduce crop to three acres per mule and plant the other three in food crop.

Plant your crop of cotton on well drained land and fertilize heavy, making two applications of fertilizer or one fertilizer and one Nitrate of Soda, depending upon the season.

This is a cotton country and we know how to produce it and we have a market for our cotton. We have our dry goods bill, grocery bill, hardware bill, doctor's bill, drug bill and taxes to pay, so we must raise cotton as our money crop, as it is the crop to raise for ready and quick money.

We have succeeded in making arrangements with the manufacturers to sell you fertilizer on commission, as follows: The factory will not permit us to sell on fall terms—only to landowners, and not then if crop is under mortgage.

You must plant early, fertilize well, work quick and often, keeping grass and weeds out, working to a level—not forgetting in boll weevil time to make a good food crop and enough to supply to your city neighbors, as they have to buy your produce.

We will have on hand through the season the OLD RELIABLE BRANDS of fertilizer as we have had in the past, and we want your business on Fertilizer, Agricultural Implements, Hardware, Queensware, Furniture, Paints, Oil, Sash, Doors, Lime, Cement, Lumber and Shingles.
